

Weapon Sought in Slaying of LSU Professor

By JACK OWENS
BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Officers today pressed the search for the blunt-edged weapon used in the fatal hacking of science Prof. Margaret (Rosie) McMillan.

Authorities Friday gave the core of their case against Dr. George H. Mickey, 49, brilliant dean of the Louisiana State University Graduate School here, accused of the slaying.

The murder weapon was believed to be a tire tool or a blunt ax.

Deputies spent hours Friday near the lonely lane six miles south of the LSU campus where Dr. McMillan, 39, an assistant professor of biology at Louisiana State University in New Orleans, was killed. The deputies searched pastures, ditches, and the Mississippi River bank and piled up items for further examination.

Chief Criminal Deputy J. B. Kling Jr. and Dist. Atty. J. St. Clair Favrot said flecks of fresh blood on Dr. Mickey's car and holes in his alibi were the basis for the arrest warrant.

Their statement said if they had not presented the matter to the East Baton Rouge Parish grand jury, "we would have been derelict in our duties."

The defense indicated Dr. Mickey is sticking to a claim that he was at home with his family Saturday, when Dr. McMillan was killed.

Favrot quoted Dr. Mickey as saying he had gone with certain out-of-town people to catch a plane during the crucial period—about 6 p.m. until midnight—and the alibi was "found to be without any foundation."

The statement by Kling and Favrot said the blood on Dr. Mickey's car was "of the same type as that of the deceased."

LSU notified Mickey that until the murder charge is cleared "your duties as dean of the graduate school and as professor and chairman of the Department of Zoology are being assigned to other personnel of the university."

Dr. Mickey, a biologist whose work has been recognized in the United States and abroad, and Dr. McMillan, had been friends for years.

Dr. Mickey directed her work for a doctorate degree when both were at Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill.

She carried Dr. Mickey's picture in her wallet and a card asking that he be notified in case of emergency.

Ammunition for Meet Seen in Red Army Cut

By DENNIS NEEDLE
LONDON (AP)—West European newspapers generally saw the proposed Soviet cut in its armed forces as ammunition for Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the East-West summit talks in May.

Some editorial writers said Khrushchev had once again seized the initiative in the cold war. Others wrote that the Soviet reductions were pointed in the right direction toward easing international tension but a hollow gesture militarily in view of the Soviet rocket strength.

A cartoon in neutral Sweden's Stockholm Tidningen showed Khrushchev inspecting an enormous battery of giant rockets and saying to a group of Soviet generals:

"Now we can reduce our armies in peace."

Denmark's conservative Dagens Nyheder probably summed up the feelings of most Europeans:

"Khrushchev's announcement is bound to spread joy, as any cut in the still gigantic Soviet military forces will be a step towards what all peoples of the world hope for. It might, however, create anxiety because nobody can believe that the Soviet Union would dare to act this way unless it had a solid lead in intercontinental missiles."

There was a general feeling that the Soviet cuts in military manpower reflected to some degree lessening of East-West tension.

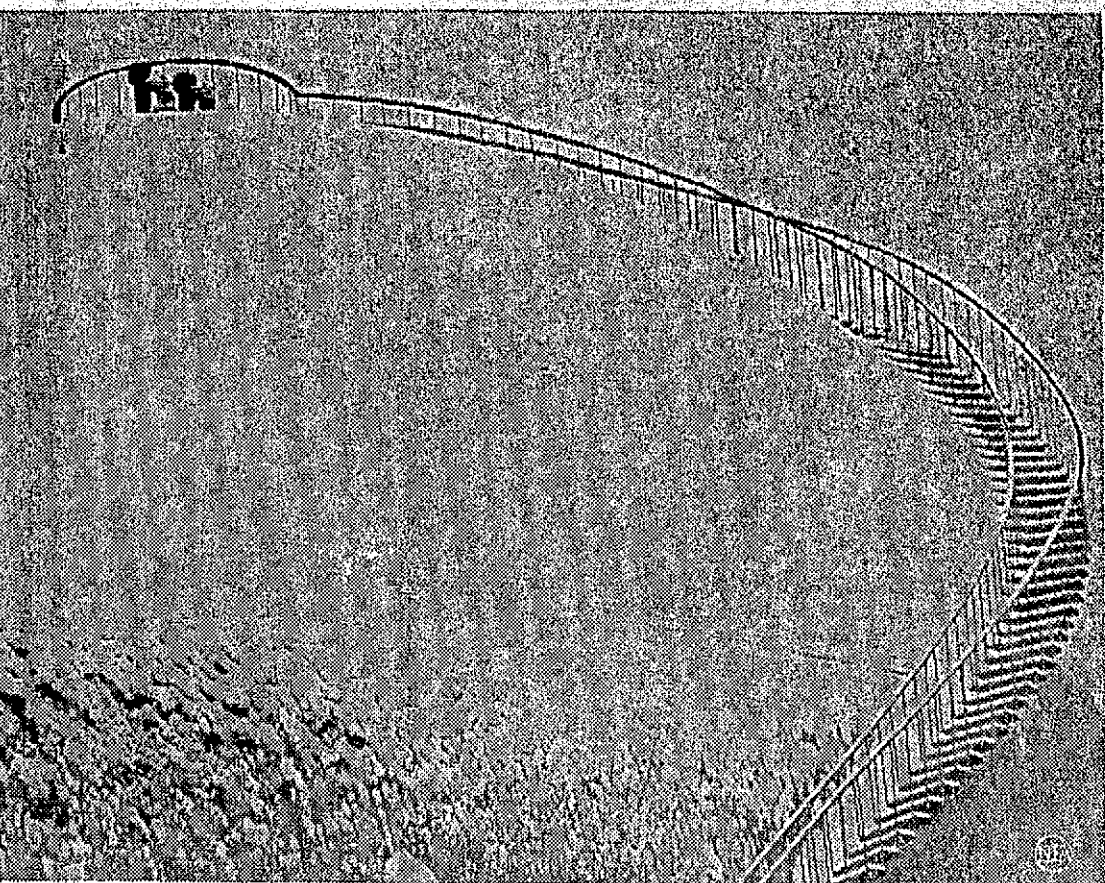

The independent London Times said, "without a strong conviction that the threat of war is lessened Khrushchev could hardly decide a further reduction of 1,200,000 men."

European editorial writers called the Soviet Premier's disarmament speech a shrewd propaganda move.

"It is a powerful imaginative gesture," said Britain's Daily Express. "Khrushchev has once again stolen the show by seizing the initiative on an issue of lasting importance."

Faubus, Aides Draft Agenda for Session

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus and his aides drafted the agenda yesterday and sent out telegrams calling legislators to the capitol for Faubus' third special session of the Arkansas Legislature next Tuesday.

In 1957, Faubus called the General Assembly back for three days to pass a state Highway Department appropriation bill.

In 1958—perhaps the most famous special session in the state's history—the legislators passed a mass of laws. Most of them dealt with segregation.

This time the purpose is industrial financing.

"A man would be an idiot to criticize this call," a veteran legislator said yesterday. "That would be like being against motherhood and for sin."

"We all want a better state to live in," said Sen. Ellis M. Pagan of Little Rock. "I am in full accord with the governor and Winthrop Rockefeller's desire to make available to cities and counties all state aid in order that they may attract new industry to the state."

Rockefeller is chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission.

Faubus had planned to get ready yesterday a formal proclamation calling the session. But this was delayed. His office said it would be finished and filed with secretary of State I. G. Hall today.

Telegrams to all 133 members of the Legislature went out last night, informing them the session will begin at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Secretary of the Board of Finance Frank Storey, who helped Faubus work out the agenda, said no advance release would be made. He said Faubus went to Hot Springs to attend the convention of the Arkansas Sheriffs Assn. and had not authorized release of the text or a rough draft.

Faubus said the special session call appeared to have been well-received.

The key legislation the governor will propose would permit governmental units, or groups of them, to vote tax-free revenue bonds to build industrial plants.

The bonds would be retired from rent payments by the industries. An immediate objective is a $1,300,000 branch of the Seaboard Rubber Co., which has been promised Batesville if the proposed legislation is adopted and the community votes the bonds.

Faubus told reporters yesterday his Tuesday speech would be lengthy. He said he would explain in detail the industrial financing bills he wants passed.

Weed Control Key to Good Cotton

MEMPHIS (AP)—Weed control is the most important factor in growing high quality cotton, the Beltwide Cotton Production — a Mechanization Conference was told today.

E. P. Coble of Starkville, Miss., coordinator of the Regional Cotton Mechanization project, he said machinery used nowadays in producing cotton demands clean fields.

"From the standpoint of quality, any weed control method in mechanized cotton production that is not 99.44 per cent complete is not good enough," he said.

The two-day session, the first to combine the heretofore separate production and mechanization meetings, ends today. It was sponsored by the National Cotton Council.

Kennedy Ducks Meet About Religion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) spurned an invitation to an interfaith meeting because he was invited as a spokesman for the Roman Catholic faith and felt he had no credentials to attend in that capacity.

Kennedy said Thursday he acted after a clergyman told him that some of the Catholic clergy were upset because he planned to represent the church.

Dr. Daniel A. Poling, a Protestant clergyman and editor of the Christian Herald, wrote in the Herald last fall that Dennis Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia got Kennedy to withdraw as a speaker at the meeting.

Kennedy said Thursday through a spokesman that he had not talked with Cardinal Dougherty about the invitation. He himself said he had withdrawn on the indirect advice of "the leading church groups which I assume would be the Cardinal."

Dr. Poling's article was in relation to the question of whether a Catholic would be influenced in his actions as president by the views of the church.

Kennedy, a Roman Catholic and a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, was asked about Dr. Poling's article Thursday after a speech to the National Press Club.

Kennedy said he was asked to attend a dinner in connection with a financial drive to build a memorial to four chaplains of different faiths who died together in World

A Faubus for President Club Starts

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A "Faubus for President" Club has been formed here, but the organizers indicated they were at least as interested in making money for their service group as they were in boosting Gov. Orval E. Faubus for the nation's highest office.

Kenneth C. Williams said he and Jim Canfield who started the club with the idea of selling bumper stickers and membership cards—both for a total of $1.

The money would go to the treasury of the North Little Rock Sertoma Club.

Williams said each Sertoma Club member was given $5 from the club treasury and told to use it any way he wished to make money for the club.

He said he and Canfield, owner of a print shop, pocketed money and started the "Faubus for President" club.

The fund-raising drive ends April 1.

Williams said that "We don't have Governor Faubus' permission to use his name, and we hope we don't cause any hard feelings."

Some state employees have been wearing "Faubus for President" buttons for several weeks.

The buttons were sent here from Los Angeles, and Faubus said he had nothing to do with them. He hasn't been wearing one.

Calls on World to Denounce Anti-Semitism

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An American representative at the United Nations has called on the world organization to denounce the outbursts of anti-Semitism throughout the world.

The appeal was issued as a New York court stunned three youthful American admirers of Hitler by charging them with treason. Conviction could bring the death penalty.

Widespread anti-Semitic flare-ups were reported in the United States, but the hate demonstrations seemed to be abating in Europe, where they began in West Germany Christmas Eve.

The resolution was presented to the U.N. Subcommittee on Prevention of Discrimination and Protection of Minorities by Justice Philip Halpern of Buffalo.

Halpern, who has served on the subcommittee since 1954, said the resolution had been drawn up in close cooperation with the State Department.

The draft, cosponsored by Britain, France, Austria, Uruguay and Finland, asked the subcommittee to condemn the anti-Semitic displays as a violation of both the U.N. charter and the Declaration of Human Rights.

It also called on the U.N. Human Rights Commission to approve an appeal to all U.N. members to take appropriate actions to prevent and punish anti-Semitic acts.

In New York City home of more than two million Jews, a judge ordered the treason charges placed against three youths accused only of consorting for an unlawful purpose—a misdemeanor.

"As I look at it," said Magistrate Solomon, "treason exists where one plots a war against society and his government."

New outbursts of anti-Semitism were reported throughout the United States.

In Chicago's Forest Park area, 50 tombstones were tipped over and some 30 daubed with swastika marks in a Jewish cemetery.

Two freshmen were suspended at Ohio University for painting a swastika on the door of a Jewish student center.

In Detroit, a 14-year-old boy, son of a high school teacher, admitted he had painted swastikas and Hitler slogans on a school.

Russia Is Revamping Propaganda

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst
The Communist party is revamping its entire vast propaganda machine in preparation for a new surge forward by the world Communist movement. One aim is to tell Communists and their sympathizers that whatever the warmth or chill of the international atmosphere, the struggle for communism's world supremacy must continue unabated.

The Soviet press has published a 10,000-word resolution of the Communist Central Committee calling for revision of propaganda machinery.

In the past few years, it notes, "a radical change in the correlation of forces in the world arena has taken place in favor of socialism (communism)."

"There has been an immeasurable growth in the international prestige of our country and all socialist states, along with their influence on the course of world history and the fate of all mankind," it adds.

"As a result of the active, consistent struggle of the Soviet Union and other socialist countries and all peace-loving peoples, a relaxation of international tension has begun to appear."

But the resolution warns: "The peaceful coexistence of states with different social systems does not weaken the ideological struggle, for our party has been waging and will continue to wage in the future a most relentless struggle for Communism."

Party propagandists are instructed to step up their activities with regard to "problems of peace and war under present day conditions."

There will be increased propaganda abroad for what Communists call the "national liberation struggle" in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

There will be instruction for all Communists on the "Marxist-Leninist world outlook" with special emphasis on training Communist youth.

All these instructions are contained in the central committee resolution. In addition, there will be a broad revision of internal propaganda. Much of this concerns a need to make the party's world ambitions attractive to the Soviet people as a matter of patriotism.

Auxiliary Police Force Gives Any Vicinity a Better Chance of Survival During Disasters

By MARY ANITA LASETER

In case of natural or man-made disasters, the folks of our vicinity will have a better hope of survival as a result of our Auxiliary Police Force which works in co-operation with Civil Defense and city, county, and state law enforcement agencies.

Early last year a group of public-spirited citizens in Hope and Hempstead County organized the local unit of the Auxiliary Police. In its year of operation the unit has had only one fund-raising campaign and that was a chili supper. Money derived from it went toward the purchase of a motor vehicle for the group.

Snappy blue uniforms with white caps denote the Hope Auxiliary Police who are trained to help in time of need. These uniforms were bought by the city, but one-half of the cost is to be paid by the Civil Defense.

While the local Auxiliary Police Force is principally concerned with performing traffic duties at parades, football games, and activities at Fair Park, it has also received training in special Civil Defense studies, first aid, and police work.

Civil Defense provides firearms for these volunteers. The last of a series of lectures was heard by them on Thursday of this week when a discussion of court procedure was presented. In the near future training will be given in short wave radio work.

All of this training is to prepare the men to help in case of an emergency. That is why their training includes motor and foot patrol techniques, prevention of looting, and proper rescue methods. The whole idea is to safeguard the health of the people and to look toward their welfare.

Meetings are held at the City Hall the second and fourth Thursday nights of each month. Originally, the last of the present series of training sessions was to have been held on Thursday of this week. However, due to unavoidable circumstances the final session will not be held until January 28.

Then, on February 11, a special event will occur when Capt. Glenn Roth and a contingent of his men in the Auxiliary Police Force of Stuttgart pay the local group a visit. The two groups of volunteers will compare notes on common problems and have an exchange of ideas. This should prove quite profitable to the local men at the Stuttgart Auxiliary Police Force is one of the most outstanding in Arkansas with a complement of 40 men.

At the first meeting in February certificates will be awarded to those having completed the training in the local Auxiliary Police Force. Under the direction of City Police Chief Jack Brown the force participates in all functions as a non-paid volunteer group. Their own officers are headed by Captain Raymond Byers, who took office last October. Don LaFantusie was the first to hold that position, as he was captain during the formation of the group.

Development of Super Rocket to Be Speeded

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has ordered overtime work if necessary to speed development of a super space rocket. He also wants to know if more money is needed for the job.

The President sent those instructions Thursday to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

He told T. Keith Glennan, NASA chief, "It is essential to press forward vigorously to increase our capability in high thrust space vehicles."

Eisenhower said NASA should make a quick study of whether more money should be spent to speed up the super rocket booster program.

He also authorized overtime work on the Saturn super booster project. Space scientists hope this project will lead to a rocket engine far more powerful than anything the Soviets are believed to have used so far.

The President's instructions had sent two messages to Capitol Hill. He asked Congress to concentrate responsibility for the U.S. peaceful space program in the civilian-run NASA. And he formally informed Congress of his plans to shift to NASA the Army's rocket research team headed by Dr. Werner von Braun.

Sheriffs Will Appeal to Special Meet

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas Sheriffs Assn. already has asked the state Legislature to consider during next week's special session what the sheriffs believe is much-needed legislative work.

The Sheriffs Assn. in a surprise move yesterday voted to ask the Legislature and Gov. Orval E. Faubus to investigate overcrowded conditions at the Arkansas Training School for Girls.

Actually, the sheriffs are the logical ones to take such a step. Several sheriffs spoke from the floor at the annual Sheriffs Assn. convention, reporting that recently they have been unable to commit female juvenile offenders to the school because it was filled.

In such cases, they must be kept in county jails or other lockups.

Mrs. Dorothy Martin, superintendent of the school, said recently girls were being turned away because of lack of room. There are 67 girls at the school.

The Sheriffs Assn. emphasized that it was not criticizing the school's operation, but its lack of facilities.

Sheriff Martin Hawkins of Morrilton (Conway County) was elected president of the Sheriffs Assn. yesterday.

The group elected seven vice presidents: Cross County Sheriff Joe Woods of Wynne, Calhoun County Sheriff Doyle Duncan of Hampton, Lawrence County Sheriff D. S. Foy of Walnut Ridge, Lee County Sheriff Courtney Langston of Marianna, Craighead County Sheriff Lonnie Cooper of Jonesboro, Miller County Sheriff Rudy Burgess and Washington County Sheriff Hollis Spencer.

The Desha County Sheriff Robert S. Moore of Arkansas City was elected executive secretary and treasurer. Logan County Sheriff Van Pennington of Paris was elected chaplain.

Herrman Lindsey, Arkansas State Police director was scheduled to speak at tonight's banquet, at which the officers will be installed by Faubus. A pistol shoot also was scheduled for today.

Speakers yesterday included Dr. Marshall Steel, president of Hendrix College at Conway, and J. J. Casper, FBI special agent at Little Rock.

Yesterday the sheriffs adopted a resolution endorsing the pay limit removal state constitutional amendment. The amendment, to be voted on in November, would allow counties to set their own salary limits for county officials.

3 Jailed in New York for Anti-Jew Acts

NEW YORK (AP)—Three youths were arrested in Queens Thursday night and accused of organizing an anti-Jewish club.

Police, acting on a tip, entered the home of John Wallace, 21, alleged ring leader of the "National American Socialist Renaissance party."

In Wallace's room they said, were swastikas, Jewish hate literature, and a photograph record entitled, "Hitler's Inferno."

Wallace was quoted as saying he had planned his group for a long time and that he felt the country needed a drastic change. He wanted to do, he said, was get enough followers to attack Jews in heavily Jewish sections of Queens.

Arrested with Wallace were Hugh Barlow, 20, and Richard E. Phelps, 19. All three, who live in Flushing, were charged with conspiring for an unlawful purpose—a misdemeanor.

Nixon Warns Against Any Defense Cuts

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon this morning opened his campaign for the presidency with a warning against any defense cuts and pledged to continue the Eisenhower policies and build upon them if elected.

"The policies of the Eisenhower administration have been constructive," he said. "They have worked, and they are firm foundations on which we can build if elected. I promise I will try to implement and build upon them."

His stand was enunciated Friday night at Gainesville before an audience at the University of Florida which frequently applauded his statements on such issues as civil rights, national defense, and federal aid to education.

Nixon's appearance on a university panel program was billed as nonpolitical, but today's activities in the populous Miami area were strictly political.

The chartered plane carrying the vice president and his party on his first trip since he became an official candidate arrived in Miami shortly after midnight.

At Gainesville the vice president used his strongest words in urging that there be no cutbacks in manpower because of an announcement by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that the Soviet Union is so strong it will cut 1,200,000 from its forces.

He said that "under no circumstances should the United States and its Allies reduce their strength."

He said Khrushchev, no doubt, had reasons for the cutback and that Khrushchev may have been influenced by some internal problem such as the need to relieve manpower to accomplish the Soviet seven-year plan. Or, Nixon added, the cutback may stem from the strategy that ground forces are no longer needed because of new-type weapons.

Khrushchev's Action Is Welcomed

By DENNIS NEEDLE
LONDON (AP)—Britain today officially welcomed Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's announced intention to cut the Soviet Union's armed forces by 1,200,000 men.

A terse statement by the foreign office was in contrast to the more cautious "prudent" attitude that marked the U.S. government's approval.

Both Allied powers—the British unofficially and the Americans officially—stressed that the Soviet Premier himself had noted that the planned cuts would in no way lessen the real striking power of Soviet arms.

A British spokesman told reporters the government welcomes the news that the Soviet Union intends to make a further reduction in its conventional forces.

The State Department in Washington Thursday night called on the Soviet Union to accept an international system of inspection and control as a means of testing Khrushchev's pledge.

Meanwhile, the British named Minister of State David Cresswell as leader of their delegation to the East-West disarmament conference opening in Geneva March 15.

West European newspapers generally viewed the proposed Soviet cut as ammunition for Khrushchev at the Paris East-West summit talks starting May 18.

More Tremors Hit Arequipa in Peru

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Residents of earthquake-shattered Arequipa wandered in near panic today after two more violent tremors Thursday.

Last reports said 26 bodies had been recovered before another wave of shocks tumbled more homes and buildings and disrupted communications.

Earlier unofficial reports said the first tremors Wednesday took at least 61 lives in Arequipa and its suburbs and 30 in the nearby village of Chugchibamb.

Thursday's tremors came just before President Manuel Prado arrived aboard one of a flight of relief planes.

Kennedy May Sidestep Wisconsin

By JACK BELL

BOSTON (AP) — Indications that Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) may sidestep the April 3 Wisconsin primary boosted today the candidacy of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Kennedy had been figured as an almost sure contestant in Wisconsin. Otherwise his challenge to all the other Democratic presidential hopefuls to meet him in state primaries seemed likely to collapse.

But Robert Kennedy told a news conference in Manchester, N.H., Wednesday he thinks his brother should stay out of the Wisconsin battle.

Robert Kennedy, who is plugging his brother's unopposed candidacy in the March 8 New Hampshire primary, said he thinks Wisconsin is Humphrey's backyard.

"It would be an unfair test," he said.

This selectivity seemed to cancel out the effect of Kennedy's challenge to Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo), Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) and others to meet him in primaries for a showdown on the popularity of individual candidates.

Robert Kennedy's announcement seemed to signal a cardinal weakness in the theory that his brother would win the presidential nomination by demonstrating in primaries the popularity of individual candidates.

Symington and Johnson are staying out of primaries on the grounds that these voting tests represent only fragmentary sentiment and do not materially influence the choice of the presidential nominee.

If Kennedy follows his brother's advice to stay out of Wisconsin, Humphrey would seem to be assured of a convention run for the nomination. With Minnesota, Wisconsin, South Dakota and straggling delegates elsewhere, he would likely go into the Los Angeles convention in July with more than 10 votes.

Humphrey has been what some politicians call a transitional candidate. It was generally recognized that if he could not beat Kennedy in Wisconsin he would retire from the presidential field and get busy on the job of getting re-elected to the Senate in Minnesota.

But if Kennedy does not choose to run in Wisconsin—and the candidate himself could override his brother's judgment—then Humphrey's name is likely to go before the national convention.

This could become something of a windfall to Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the party's presidential nominee.

Mrs. McKenzie.

WHAT'S HIS LINE?—Inspired by a "desert spirit," German art instructor Fritz Hundertwasser painted unbroken lines around the walls and windows of his workshop at the State Art College in Hamburg. DOROTHY DIX

Gossipy Neighbors Drive Her Crazy

Dear Dorothy Dix:

About a month ago a man asked me out I refused. He was married. Soon after he phoned again to say he was divorcing. How about going to a show? I did not see any harm in going with him. I was as my girl friend went too. That was the last time I went with him.

Last week his wife phoned me to leave her husband alone and to stop calling up or she would cause trouble. I told her that I only saw her husband a few times. She said that wasn't what he said.

About an hour later he called and asked what I wanted, and to stop calling. I told him to leave me alone or that I'd start trouble. Then this gossip about me started. I live in a small community. My folks own a tavern. Men come in and drink beer and talk about me going down to the railroad cars where construction crews live. This isn't so. Caring for and living with an elderly lady and attending school leaves me no time to waste.

I thought about leaving but have no money. I've also thought of having a showdown with this man's wife but have no proof she is talking about me. It's driving me folks crazy. They will have nothing to do with me. My Dad won't even talk to me. I am 20 years old. How can I stop this gossip?

Dear M.S.: Any 20-year-old girl who goes out with a married man, even if he is on the brink of divorce, courts trouble. You could be as poor as driven snow and people would still talk. The fact that the man is a cad doesn't help.

But nothing is as bad as it seems, if you face up to it. So ince Stevenson, who has said he isn't a candidate, may collect only scattered votes on the first ballot from his die-hard supporters.

for heaven's sake, don't run. Granted you were foolish. Brush off the gossip with a shrug. Let the man and his wife talk their heads off. Smile and say nothing. Public opinion is as fickle as the weather. The very people who would tell you out of town today will cheer you tomorrow if you stay and face the music—with a smile.

But next time a married man sweet talks, hang up on him.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I have been going with this boy for four months. These were other girls before me but he told me about them and I didn't mind. Now things have changed. He has been seeing my girl friend behind my back. I knew it but said nothing. I thought we had broken up but when I saw him last night he showed me something I had proved otherwise. Should I let him go to my girl friend or try to keep him myself?

Confused and Bewildered
Where's your pride? Beat that boy to it. Stop seeing him before he stops seeing you. Incidentally, your girl friend doesn't sound like much of a friend.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I am married. We have a baby nine months old and expect another in February. I am 23. My wife is 33. I don't love her. I love another, a 15-year-old girl who loves me. I have been going with her three months and never a cross word. I am Catholic. She belongs to the Baptist church. I Me and my wife fight nasty all the time. She knows I love this girl and not her. We had to get up but when I saw him last night he showed me something I had proved otherwise. Should I let him go to my girl friend or try to keep him myself?

Dear Dorothy Dix: Your name is an understatement of the tangled situation you're in—mostly, if I'm to accept the facts in your letter.

Volcano in Hawaii Is Still Flowing

HONOLULU (AP)—Kilauea volcano continued to spew flaming lava from a long rift on its lower slope today, and pushed a wide river of boiling, orange-colored lava within a half mile of the Pacific Ocean.

The volcano blasted molten lava rock and white hot steam out of a 300-yard fissure east of deserted Kapoho village, on the southeast coast of Hawaii Island.

The eruption, the second in the Funa area in five years, came in a brief hot Thursday but resumed its fiery activity before nightfall.

Blazing fissures spout fountains of lava 150 to 200 feet high before the liquid fire cascaded down the slope toward the sea.

A 200-foot wide river of lava swept trees, telephone poles and sugar cane stalks in a blazing trail toward the sea.

Kapoho's 300 inhabitants, mostly ranchers and cane field workers, fled the night at Pahoa, a few miles to the west, where the Red Cross set up an evacuation center.

The lava flow so far poses no threat and has done little damage.

Another Row Boils on Rackets Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—Another row boiled up today among Republican and Democratic members of the Senate Rackets group over investigation of the United Auto Workers Union.

The Republican members plan to release a report of their own charging Democratic cover-up tactics in the inquiries into the politically powerful union.

The UAW generally supports Democrats. This fact provided a large backdrop for the committee's stormy hearings on strikes and other things involving UAW officials.

The Democrats have kept secret the report they will submit to the Senate late this month.

The Indianapolis Star published today a story quoting from the Republican version, but highly informed sources said some of the language quoted by the newspaper has been softened.

These sources said a statement directly accusing Robert F. Kennedy, former chief counsel of the committee, of cover-up tactics to protect the UAW, has been stricken out.

The proposed report still alleges that the Democrats never did look into a "clear pattern of crime and violence" in some high places in the union.

Kennedy himself declined to discuss it until he sees what the Republicans actually say.

To Ask 2nd Division of 4th Chancery

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus today said he would ask the Legislature next week to create a second division of the 4th Chancery District, which embraces Arkansas, Cleveland, Jefferson and Lincoln Counties.

He said another division had of your own making. Put that 15-year-old girl out of your mind. Just because you no longer love your wife doesn't mean that you can write off those children. With marriage goes responsibility. Either shoulder it and become a man, or duck it and turn into a wimp!

NAACP Wants Parker Report Released

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People has called on U.S. Atty. Gen. William Rogers to release to the public the FBI's report on the Mack Charles Parker lynching.

The NAACP sent its request to Rogers yesterday shortly after a federal grand jury here completed its investigation of the case without returning any indictments.

"On the basis of evidence presented, we were unable to arrive at any true bill," said the jury's report to Federal Judge Sidney Mize.

This apparently means there will be no further grand jury action in the nine-month-old case unless authorities uncover new witnesses or new testimony.

The Justice Department submitted the case to a federal grand jury after a Pearl River County grand jury did not indict anyone last November.

In the NAACP's telegram to Rogers, the organization said releasing the FBI's 378-page report on the case would allow the world to "know who the suspects are... and to appraise the quality of justice administered in the state of Mississippi."

"These flagrant and calculated miscarriages of justice demonstrate the urgent need for strong civil rights legislation."

been recommended by lawyers and legislators from the district because of an increased work load.

If the second division materializes, Faubus will appoint a chancellor to serve until after next November's election.

The appointee could not run for an elected term.

Lawrence Dawson of Pine Bluff, the district's only present chancellor, is serving by appointment to succeed the late Pat H. Mullis.

He also is ineligible for an

Districts to Get Full Aid Share

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—School districts which have an assessment ratio of 10 per cent, or more should receive their full state aid even though they are in a county which has not reached that level.

That opinion was handed down yesterday by Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, who had been asked for a ruling on the situation by Education Commissioner Arch Ford.

The ruling applies specifically to districts in Drew County, the only county which has not been certified as having reached a property tax assessment ratio of at least 18 per cent.

Bennett said individual school districts in Drew County, which have been certified as having an assessment ratio of 18 per cent, or more should receive full state aid.

By the assessment equalization law, counties not up to 18 per cent lost a proportionate share of their state turnback aid. The same applies to school districts not at that mark in relation to state school monies.

St. Joseph's Orphanage.

It was a joyous occasion for the 82 orphans who had prayed since Tuesday for the return of the nine frisky calves, who were donated to the orphanage by a well-wisher.

The yearlings, who had been made sick by the children, disappeared Tuesday, and everyone, including Orphanage Supervisor Sister Annella, feared they were victims of rustling.

They were found last night in some woods about a mile from the orphanage. Someone had left the gate open and they wandered away.

Crossett Edges Bobcats In Loop Opener

By TEDDY JONES JR.

The Crossett Eagles squeaked out a 60 to 56 win over the Hope Bobcats in a 4AA Conference game played at Jones Field House last night.

In the preliminary Junior game the Hope Bobcats edged the Junior Eagles in the last 30 seconds to take out a 31 to 29 victory.

Both the Juniors and Seniors face Crossett tonight at the Jones Field House in the final of the two game series. Starting time for the Junior game is 7 p.m.

Wayne Jackson, Eagle forward, was the big gun for the visitors in the senior game, scoring 23 points to lead in scorers. He was ably assisted by Guard Bob Tucker with 13 and Robert Mizell with 12 points.

Glen Calhoun, who fouled out in the fourth period, was high point man for the Bobcats with 14 points followed by Terry Don Thurman with 11, Churchwell 8, and Larry Vaughn and Byron Smiley with 7 each to keep Hope in contention.

A slow first quarter for the Bobcats; played costly and Crossett jumped to a quick 10 point lead at the end of the first, 23-14. The Eagles maintained this margin until the Cats closed the gap to four points at the half, trailing by only 5 points, 38-33.

The Cats closed the margin to tie things up at the end of the third 51-51. The lead saw saw back and fourth in the final quarter and with a 54-53 lead and 3 1/2 minutes in the game, the Eagles successfully stalled out the clock, racking up two field goals and two successful free throws by Jackson in the closing 30 seconds to put the game on ice.

Inability of the Bobcats to capitalize on their free throws proved costly. The Eagles dropped 23 in from the foul line to 44 for the Cats while in the personal foul department, Crossett committed 22 personals to 20 for the Cats.

Hope outscored Crossett from the field 21 field goals to 18.

In winning their first and only 4AA Conference game played to date, the Junior Bobcats played their best game of the year, at least for the first half, when they led the Junior Eagles 20 to 12.

The Kittens roared in the third period and trailed the visitors in scoring 9 to 8 but led 24-21 at the end of the period.

Dan Jones, Hope forward was the games-high scorer with 11 points, four of them a field goal and two charity tosses coming in the last 30 seconds to keep Hope on the lead and break a 27-27 deadlock with less than a minute to go.

Earl Ray Murphy tallied 8 for the Kittens and was responsible for shooting the young Cats to a fast lead by racking up two quick jump shots early in the first quarter.

David Porterfield, Tony Purdie, and Mac McLarty tallied four points each to complete the Hope scoring.

A good crowd was on hand for last night's two close and exciting games and an even larger gathering is expected for tonight's games.

There are 42 springs within the city limits of Eureka Springs. Animals may lose nearly all the fat and about half the protein of the body and survive. But a loss of about one-tenth of the water will cause death.

39 MILLION MAKE U.S. BOATING BIG

By WM. T. MCKEOWN

Editor, Popular Boating

(Distributed by NEA Service)

Figures for 1959 show 300,000 more new boats were bought and launched bringing the total number of pleasure boats afloat to nearly eight million.

A bulking $2,476,000,000 was spent by 39 million boating Americans

—the two billion went for fuel, maintenance, docks, used boats, equipment and the like, while the new boat, motor, and trailer market took the 475 million remainder.

The kinds of boats break down as you might expect with nearly 10 million outboards now on the water, half a million inboards powering about, and almost that many sailboats still sliding by with no push except from the wind, though they've been known to jump on an outboard kicker on occasional late afternoons when the wind dies.

In a special category, but a big one — nearly 2 1/2 million — are motorhomes, campers, dinghies, and other miscellaneous craft that are permanently muscle powered but have also been known to crank up a motor on occasion.

Statistics suspect there are 25,000 more of these than last year, but many both in backyard boat yards where they were built, and are very difficult to count.

Figures indicate there are now

1,750,000 trailers in use, 150,000 more than last year, and no doubt some of these are shared among friends and make home several boats at the end of the season.

The boats, with the exception of sail, that do use fuel for power burned a lot of it last year —

490,000,000 gallons of gasoline, for instance, and 136 million had 22 million gallons of oil mixed in for outboard motors, which lubricate themselves while combusting

the gasoil mixture.

Many boating figures can only be estimates in this carefree season, but we know for sure that 82,000 people could phone home from their boats because they had marine radio telephones.

Each of these is counted and licensed by the Federal Communications Commission, but even they can't always prevent some misleading broadcast from jamming the air with descriptions of a fish he just caught.

While 165,000,000 square feet of plywood went into boats in 59, 7,000 pounds of plastics were also used in more than double last year, while aluminum counted for 3,000,000 pounds.

Covering all this were 12,000, gallons of paint and varnish to keep all these craft reflecting brightly on the water.

Pilgrim Father John Alden, best known for his romance with Priscilla Mullins, had another claim to fame. He was the last survivor of the Mayflower passengers, dying in 1687.

OUT OF DOORS

The Sailfish Capital of the World

By AL McCLANE

Fishing Editor, Field & Stream

During the last five years, 8.45

Atlantic sailfish were caught in the Gulf Stream waters between Palm Beach and Stuart, Fla.

This 15-mile sector, which docks and accommodations than claims to be the Sailfish Capital of the World, is trafficked not on Stuart, but the latter is uniquely an angling town with excellent facilities sealed on a more intimate level.

Due to the proximity of the Gulf Stream, the fishing hours begin almost immediately after leaving the inlet at 8 a.m. and continue to a reasonable period after 4 p.m., allowing sufficient time for the skipper to make port before dark.

Trolling and occasionally drift fishing are the principal techniques for catching sailfish. Instruction and the correct tackle is supplied by the charter boat.

Your chances of raising at least one sailfish per trip are good.

Ordinarily you will get several strikes on an average day. During peak periods, notably in mid-December when the fish are schooling and in February, catches of from five to 10 per boat are not unusual. A few experts have billed as many as 30 in one day.

The fish run six feet to eight and a half feet long and weigh from 35 to 9 pounds. Sailfish are strong light tackle fish (six thread), but are no less acrobatic or powerful against the nine and 12-thread lines spooled by most charter skippers. On rare occasions, white and blue marlin come to sailfish baits in this area.

There are many taxi cab and car rental services available in this area although ground transportation isn't necessary if you stay at a location convenient to the docks.

Everything you need is here, including well stocked tackle shops in Stuart, West Palm Beach and Palm Beach. You must have tropical clothing, including sport shirts, shorts, topsiders for wet decks and sun tan lotion. Also suits and sport jackets for hotel life and a warm sweater for im-reasonable bays.

Experienced big game anglers may want their own tackle. Nothing heavier than 12-thread is necessary. It's advisable to include fly, bait casting or spinning gear for nearby freshwater bass fishing, or the smaller species of salt-water fish.

For details on the Sailfish Capital area, write the West Palm Beach Fishing Club.

THE STORY: Orrin Applegate,

a young lawyer, has just been retained by Madam Cissie Jane-way, beautiful, mysterious and rich, to handle her legal affairs.

Soon afterwards Orrin and his father found the body of a man who had been strangled in their bar.

CHAPTER V

A few months ago it would have been difficult to locate an officer, but only recently the state legislature had passed a bill authorizing us to hire additional police men. It was not dignified for a young attorney at law to run, but I walked rapidly to Salina Street, where I saw a patrolman sauntering along placidly. He was a middle-aged and whiskered man, who blinked at me as I recoiled him excitedly.

"I'm Orrin Applegate," I told him, "and there's a murdered man in our bar."

"Applegate, huh?" he asked, becoming more respectful at mention of father's name.

Clearly he did not know what to do next. "I'm just a peeler," he said. "Murders is too steep for me. 'I'll mosey along to your house, but you better fetch some-buddy higher up."

So he set off — reluctantly. I thought —

MOLDING MINDS

Through good books the sages of the ages may speak to the children of this age. Good books are antidotes for juvenile delinquency and for adult delinquency. Good books increase our joys, soften our sorrows, ennoble our friendships, enlarge our ideals, refine our ambitions, guide our energies, feed our souls. They are companions in loneliness, friends in trouble, tools for work and guides in wayfaring. The church and the church library offer you books that will keep your boys from being crooks. Books help mold minds.
